MAZDA HALL

Saturday 23rd March 2013

7.00 pm

Balassi Institute
Hungarian Information and
Cultural Centre, New Delhi

The HAYDN BARYTON TRIO BUDAPEST was founded by Balázs Kakuk in 1980 with the intention to revive Joseph Haydn's almost 200 compositions for baryton - an original instrument of Prince Esterházy Miklós, the Magnificent - in order to perform the pieces in authentic and original instrumentation. The Ensemble plays all Baryton trios from Haydn as well as quintets, octets and the baryton divertimenti from other composers of the Esterházy circle. The Trio has done film music recordings, TV-productions and concert tours worldwide.

Balázs Kakuk violoncello, viola da gamba and barytongamba artist, professor for cello and chamber music at Franz Liszt Music Academy and Béla Bartók Conservatory in Budapest. As member of the Baroque Quartet Collegium Musicum Budapest, he was winner of the competition of "Festival van Vlaanderen" in Brügge in 1978. Besides the modern cello he plays all the viols soprano, alto, tenor and bass in original tuning as well as the 17 string Barytongamba. Prof. Kakuk is the founder and leader of HAYDN BARYTON TRIO BUDAPEST, and has participated in several solo and chamber music concerts, radio, television and CD recordings, worldwide. He is a well-known specialist of early music in authentic instruments, who has widespread engagements at international music congresses, master classes in Hungary, in foreign countries and as adjudicator of prominent music competitions.

József Spengler started his music studies on the violin at the age of six. From the age of ten, he was a multiple winner of the "Youth Music" Violin Competition in Budapest. He later studied at the Béla Bartók Conservatory and became the concertmaster of the Postás Szimfónikus Zenekar at the age of 25. Since 1976, he has been the violist in the orchestra of the Hungarian State Opera and of the Philharmony Society. He has toured all over the world for concerts and recordings.

András Kaszanyitzky received a violoncello artist diploma in 1998 at Franz Liszt Music Academy. Winner of several competitions at home and abroad, in 1996, he was awarded the second prize of the Popper Cello Competition in Budapest. He played in the Somogyi Quartet, Sándor Frigyes Chamber Orchestra, Erkel Ferenc Chamber Orchestra, and in London City Opera. Permanent member of the Weiner-Szász Chamber Symphony Orchestra and the Haydn Baryton Trio Budapest. He has performed in Austria, Germany, Switzerland, Italy, France, England, Netherlands, Slovakia, Scotland, USA, China and Thailand.
